What's Up With the SGA

What has your SGA been up to since the election? Well, we actually got something done for students!
The tennis courts, which used to close at midnight, but had been changed to 11:00 p.m., are back to closing at midnight. The Commons was also closing at 11:00 p.m., but now will close at midnight, too. And the indoor track will be open until 11:00 p.m. rather than 10:00 p.m. so that people can continue to watch the late intramural games. I don't know about you guys, but I was excited to see things getting done.

For any students that are interested in having a say in the cafeteria food, John Luc wants a committee of about 20 students, so if you want to do something with all of the complaints, talk to Jason Good (jason.good@emu.edu, x6377) about getting on that committee.

And the big thing we are working on right now is the response to the pending war on Iraq. We are setting up the phones by the game room as a place for people to call their representatives about the war on Iraq. More will be said about this later. Anything you guys need, let me know.

is to use the varsity practice fields.
While Miller that they are unsure about where they could play, she is more worried about being granted club status.

Despite many challenges to overcome, the right moves could provide EMU with a quality squad in the near future. “It will take a lot of hard work, but my high school team became respectable in just two years, an achievement I hope will repeat here at EMU,” said Sauder. “Lacrosse is an addictive sport that is well worth the time and effort to get started. It is an experience that will change you.”
