Letter to the Editors

Christian and Non-Pacifist, Pro-War

dear editors,

emu embraces diversity, respects cultural differences and preaches tolerance all over this campus. But somehow, ever since i arrived at this school, i have not been given a voice and my beliefs are true. in fact, i am a christian who supports this war, this president and this country. you see, i find it extremely ironic that the very reason this student body has the freedom to protest the war, the right to believe in peace and the ability to slander this nation is that lives have been lost on behalf of thousands of men and women who have fought and given their lives for freedom. this country was founded on a war; were it not for the rivers of shed blood, most of emu’s students would be arrested and jailed for nonresistant convictions.
